Follow in the footsteps of legends and play two unique courses in one stunning location.

Our two championship golf courses offer varied play over equally exhilarating landscapes. The resort combines the contrasting challenge of The Masters and The Open – the meeting of forests and classic parkland with sea breezes, pot bunkers and traditional heathland fescue and gorse. Two championship courses, one esteemed history.

The driving range located adjacent to the 1st tee at Druids Heath with its covered range, grass bays, bunker and putting greens is an ideal setting to practice your game. Our golf professional, Patrick Geraghty PGA, provides expert tuition with individual or group lessons on any aspect of the game.

Druids Heath is set against a backdrop of breath-taking views over the Irish Sea and Wicklow Mountains. This rare heathland course weaves its way around quarries, trees and pot bunkers offering you a thrilling sporting experience. Druids Heath was the venue for the 2006 Irish PGA Championship and has hosted some of the game's finest players.

WHATEVER THE SEASON...

Druids Glen, known to many as the “Augusta of Europe” is renowned as being amongst the finest, most challenging and enjoyable courses in Europe – a course good enough to host the Irish Open for four consecutive years. Designed by Pat Ruddy and Tom Craddock, the course offers manicured tree-lined fairways, historical landmarks, undulating greens, spectacular water features and vibrant floral displays. Enjoy the tranquillity of Druids Glen, with lakes dotted throughout the golf course while the many streams add to the Augusta feel.
