The ceremony is the pinnacle moment where two lives are interwoven in an open-air venue accommodating up to 125 guests against a backdrop of panoramic views of the Sea of Cortez.

A romantic night scene on a balcony. A man and a woman are sitting at a table, holding hands and looking at each other. The table is set with a white tablecloth, a glass of wine, and a small bouquet of flowers. The balcony has a glass railing and is decorated with string lights and lanterns. In the background, there are palm trees and a view of a city at night with fireworks exploding in the sky.

The image shows a large outdoor dining area, possibly a terrace or balcony, overlooking a body of water. The space is filled with numerous tables, each set with white tablecloths, colorful glassware (including wine glasses, water glasses, and shot glasses in various colors like red, blue, green, purple, and orange), and floral centerpieces. The centerpieces feature a mix of red, orange, and purple flowers. The background is a bright, slightly blurred view of the ocean and a white building. The overall atmosphere is festive and elegant. The text "Splendor in the grass in paradise" is overlaid on the left side of the image, with "Splendor" in a large, elegant serif font and "in the grass in paradise" in a smaller, simpler font. Below the text is a "CONTINUE" button with a right-pointing chevron.
